

Service Scholars 2018 - Legacy Scholarship Requirements

Global Doing Good awards scholarships in varying amounts for students traveling on Service Scholar programs with Global Travel Alliance. The scholarships are awarded based upon the quality of a written essay.

- To be considered for a scholarship, students must demonstrate an understanding of the value of service and submit an essay to Global Doing Good via email to scholarships@globaldoinggood.org
- Scholarship funding is available only to students who are currently enrolled in one of the Global Travel Alliance Service Scholars programs such as the Costa Rica homebuilding program.
- Applications must be submitted by January 15, 2019
- Essays will be reviewed and awarded by February 15, 2019.
- Please make sure to note on which service trip you've enrolled.

Directions: Write an essay about service from your own experiences and observations. Possible topics to cover could include:

- The value of service in a community
- The benefits gained (by both those serving and those receiving service)
- Your own personal experience serving
- An individual you know that exemplifies service and integrity

Please be specific. For example, how has this person demonstrated service and integrity in your opinion? Provide examples. Don't forget to include your own beliefs about service. Describe service as it pertains to your life.

Awards: As a stipulation for receiving the scholarship, winners will be required to write a short essay/note of thanks regarding your experience to the anonymous donors that make these awards possible.
